Formalism Analysis on the Novel Androphobia by Ullan Pralihanta

Abstract

Formalism is the main concept used as an analysis material. In formalism there are two aspects studied (1) formal aspects of language and (2) storytelling techniques. The formal aspects of language relate to five aspects, namely (1) title, (2) point of view, (3) style and tone, (4) symbolism, and (5) irony. The storytelling technique deals with three aspects, namely (1) fabula, (2) sujet and (3) motif. This study focuses on storytelling techniques. Fabula or stories relate to sequences of events in order sorted in causality relationships. In the novel Androphobia by Ullan Pralihanta is divided into 3 parts, namely (1) episodes of love Yasmin─Ovan, (2) episodes of love Robin─Gadis, and (3) episodes of shrinkage. Sujet is a plot, a narrative structure, that is the way semantic material presentation in a text in Androphobia, a novel by Ullan Pralihanta uses a forward plot with several flashes of events. The forward plot occurs 2 times, that is, (1) the events of part 1, part 2, part 3, part 5, and part 15, (2) the events of section 6, section 7, sections 9, 10 to section 19. The flashy event occurs in Section 15 to Section 6.

Keywords: formalism, novel, fabula, sujet, motif

A. Introduction

The life description of the characters can be found in the entire novel. One of them can be found in novel Androphobia written by Ullan Pralihanta. This novel tells of a woman named Gadis. Her mother remarried after her father left. The girl thus has a stepfather. As a girl, grows healthy, beautiful with a captivating body shape. Once, for some reason, her stepfather raped her. The event made the girl experience stress. She considers all the men around her like hungry monsters and looking for prey. When she chosen to avoid themselves from men. Her colleagues accused him of being a lesbian, even her best friend named Melisa had justified the slant. In the midst of a downturn, a good-minded man put her heart and wanted to help her out of her psychic problem, but Robin's good faith failed at first. Robin strived to keep her from recovering from her illness, Robin never gave up before she recovered and he can assumed that in this world not all men like her stepfather he did to her. Robin's business was successful in getting her out of the illness she suffered all the time and finally she felt in love with Robin, but...
Robin had to go to college in Amsterdam, after Robin finished college and got a well-established job, he decided to pledge his love to Gadis in the presence of the penghulu.

The reviews above show typical forms of characters performed. Girl and Robin are figures of the author to live the event told by the poet. As a fictional individual undergoing an event in the narrative, Gadis is positioned as a raped by her stepfather. The rape events experienced by Gadis encouraged Robin's compassion to help her out of her problem. Although the business initially failed, but Robin did not give up. He kept trying, encouraging her to get out of her trouble. After a great effort, Robin managed to bring her out of her troubles.

The figure’s description implies (1) fabula, (2) sujet, and (3) motive. These three elements can be traced in the novel that originated from the marriage of Gadis' mother raises a new problem of acts of rape committed her stepfather to her. The rape that happened to Gadis gave birth to Robin's presence to help her out of her problem. In this narrative comes the narrative, the plot and the causal (motive) that form the story in the novel. The figures and the above are the main focus of formalism attention.

B. Literature Review

Formalism is the first theory to be born or that is based on an objective approach. Formalism (from Latin means form, being) is a literary theory that directs attention to the form of literary work itself, leaving aside other elements outside of literary works. The theory of formalism undertakes a scientific study of literary works, by examining literary, poetic, association, opposition, and so forth. What is studied or examined are the characteristics of a literary work that distinguishes it from other works that are not literary.

The main focus of the theory of formalism is to examine texts considered as literary texts, which are distinct from non-literary texts. The distinctive element is a new form that deviates from ordinary language form. Formalism theory is more concerned with aspects of the form of language, namely the existence of deviations, novelty, and the uniqueness of language in literary texts (Syuropati, 2011: 9). In addition to the formal aspects of language, the Russian formalists also focus on storytelling techniques. It was they who introduced the terms fabula (fable), sujet and motive, which then became famous. Fabula is the depiction of a sequence of events in order sorted in causality relation. Fabula is recognized by semantic means. On the other hand, sujet is a plot, a narrative structure, that is the way of presenting semantic material in a text. Fabula is the material for the preparation of sujet. Motive is interpreted as the smallest unit of the fabula and transformed into the smallest principle of the plot.

The problem of fabula and sujet can also be attributed to Saussure's syntagmatic and paradigmatic problems. The syntagmatic relationship emphasizes the order of the units of meaning of a fictional text, the relationship in praesentia. Syntagmatic relationships are linear relationships, configuration relationships, construction relationships (Todorov, 1985: 12), form or arrangement. In a fictional text the form of the relationship can be a relationship (word, event, or character). So how one event is followed by other events causes causation, words are related to full meaning, and characters form antitheses and gradations. Barthes (Zaimar, 1991: 14-15) suggests that to (examine the linearity of the structure of the text) the first thing to do is to determine the units of story (and function) by basing themselves on the criterion of meaning.

C. Methodology

There is a section that needs to be addressed in relation to the research methodology. The sections are as follows.

1. Types and Research Methods

This type of research is literature research. Meanwhile, the method used in this research is descriptive qualitative method.

2. Data and Data Sources

This study is a text (a piece of story in the form of words, phrases, clauses, sentences and paragraphs) of novel Androphobia by Ullan Pralihanta associated with formalism. The source of data in this research is novel Androphobia by Ullan Pralihanta.
3. Technique of Data Collection

The research data was collected using reading-record technique and literature review. This technique uses the researcher as an instrument (human instrument) to perform reading activities carefully, directed and accurate both to the source data and research literature sources.

4. Technique of Data Analysis

The data analysis technique used by the researcher is the content study. To get the technique aspect of storytelling the following steps are done: (1) identifying the text (the story piece in the form of words, phrases, clauses, sentences and paragraphs) into sequences (punctuation of events), (2) sorting sequences that have causality events that are not related to each other, (3) determining the chronological events, (4) determining the episode, (5) determining the fabula, sujet, and motif.

D. Findings and Discussion

1. Findings

The results of the research and the identification of the data show the novel Androphobia by Ullan Pralihanta contains aspects of formalism. Formalism draws attention to two things, namely (1) formal aspects of language, (2) storytelling techniques. The formal aspects of language relate to five aspects, namely (1) title, (2) point of view, (3) style and tone, (4) symbolism and (5) irony. The technique of pencarian relates to three aspects, namely (1) fabula or story, (2) sujet and (3) motive. From the two focuses of formalism attention, only aspects of storytelling techniques are the focus in this study.

2. Discussion

Discussion of research begins with novel sorting in the form of episodes to explain the storytelling technique as one part of the focus of attention formalism. Related to that there are three episodes in between, (1) episodes of love Yasmin-Ovan, (2) love episodes Robin-Gadis, and (3) episodes shrinkage. The love episode of Yasmin-Ovan is found in part 1: Those who make love, part 2: I (not) Girl, part 3: The Disgusting Boy, part 5: Lesbikah I, and part 15: When it is broken again. While the love episode of Robin-Gadis found in part 6: Robin, the lame snobs hero, part 7: Bad Day, part 9: He is kind, part 10: Angels everywhere, part 11: The red thread between me and Robin, part 12: The trail left behind, part 13: The new spirit, part 14: Shock teraphy, part 16: Strengthening love, part 17: Sebuah pengakuan, part 18: and part 19: Dia lelakiku. Sehan and part 19: Dia lelakiku. While the shooting episodes are found in section 4: Jangan mendekat atau kau kubunuh, and bagian 8: Kematian (ternyata) menyakitkan.

The separation of the novel in the form of the above episode is done to explain three aspects of storytelling, namely (1) fabula or story, (2) sujet and (3) motive. These three aspects are described below.

1. Fabula atau Cerita

The sequence of events in the ordered order in the relation of causality (fabula). To get a more detailed discussion of the characters who have a causality relationship can be combined into the fabula in novel Androphobia by Ullan Pralihanta that is divided into 3 parts, namely (1) episodes of love Yasmin-Ovan, (2) episode of Love Robin-Gadis, and (3) episode of reduction. The description of the fabula in the novel is attributed to the characters undergoing events in the novel that establish causality relationships. Starting from part 1 to part 2, part 3, part 5, directly part 15 back to section 6, part 7, part 8, directly to section 9, part 10, part 11, part 12, part 13, 14, the 15th, the 16th, the 17th, the 18th and the 19th.

The motive of the above events is described below. Starting from part 2, aku bukan Gadis. The second part is the cause of the birth of part 3, the Disgusting Male. This section exposes Gadis’ (solitary) wishes after Mami, writes in front of a mirror, talks in a mirror, blames herself about past events that have occurred, such as blaming herself about her body because of the actions of a man who has ransacked her. Repeatedly trying to praise herself who is said to be pretty bloody Macau, China. She kept talking in front of the mirror about her dependable face, the allure of body, and dependability. She is also born from a rich family and of course will impact on men who choose it. However, all that becomes meaningless because the blood membranes that can be proud of no longer have. She can only cry. Hope there will be men who want to accept it, but hard to do as true women.
